

Facebook Communication Guidelines

Community:

Connecting with our community is important to us. Facebook is one way Inland engages with our community and we invite you to participate. But before you post, please read these important communication guidelines. Our goal is to have respectful, friendly conversations, ones that stay on topic, and are not offensive to anyone.

Opinions expressed on Inland's Facebook page represent the views of individual commenters, not Inland Hospital.

Inland Hospital reserves the right to edit or remove any postings we deem inappropriate, including but not limited to:

- Violations of patient or healthcare provider privacy
- Foul language
- Personal attacks or defamatory comments
- Comments that go off topic (including promotion of events, web sites, organizations, and programs not related to or affiliated with Inland Hospital)

Inland is not responsible for the content of links to other websites posted on Inland's Facebook page, and such postings are not considered an endorsement by Inland.

Because information on social media sites can be viewed for years to come, please use caution about sharing personal information.
